Meet: Banken Champignons

Location: Wijchen, NL

About:

Banken Champignons is a modern, family owned company in the food business. A vertical integration, involved in every link of the supply chain: from growing, picking, processing, packing and refrigerated transport up to worldwide distribution and sales of fresh mushrooms. A reliable partner with a solid logistics network: 'ordered today, delivered tomorrow'.

Description job

Usually production workers start on the picking department, where mushrooms got packed in small boxes. From there on the teamleaders will assess which work fits best and based on that teach you on one of those departments: sorting, packing, fast, cutting. People with a forkliftlicense can be trained as a forkliftdriver starting at the picking department.
